Instruction

http://www.adobe.com/uk/education/instruction/curriculum/dv_curriculum.html (a very thorough guide to DV and premiere)

General DV Resources

www.dv.com (great articles from the magazine by the same name- one note: you'll need to set up an account to access articles)

www.videouniversity.com (some useful DV articles) www.adamwilt.com/DV.htm (the lingo is very technical, but very good)

Hardware Discounts

www.deals2buy.com (the internet's best deals compiled daily into one site)

Educational Software Discounts

www.journeyed.com (e-mail a copy of your student or teacher id and get 40-70% off)

Filmmaking Tips

www.gregpak.com/filmhelp/primer.html (pre to post-production tips)

www.unhollywood.com (advice on budget filmmaking)

Premiere Pro Forums

www.adobe.com/support/forums/main.html (Good for searching fixes) www.creativecow.net/forum/view_posts.php?forumid=3 (Experts abound) www.stevengotz.com/premierepro.htm (not a true "forum" but a good resource)

Lighting

www.andrew-whitehurst.net/3point.html (3-point lighting explained)

www.mhswildcats.com/TV%20Textbook/040Mastering%20Contrast%20and%20Color.htm (a good overall intro to light as related to DV)

Music and Sound Effects

(NOTE: before downloading and using sounds effect, be sure to review the provider's licensing agreement.)

www.flashkit.com/soundfx (great sound loops and sound effects) www.garageband.com (music for the people voted on by the people . . .)

www.freeplaymusic.com (a big, high quality music library)
